Mike Krzyzewski in win over Michigan State.

"I think some parents now look at a youngster failing as the final thing. It's a process, and failure is part of the process. I would like it if the teacher and the parents would connect more. I think that used to be, but we're losing a little bit of that right now." -Mike Krzyzewski

DUKE- As head coach of the Duke Blue Devils for over 30 years, Basketball Hall of Famer coach Mike Krzyzewski has made a career of motivating people both on and off the court. Affectionately known as "Coach K," Krzyzewski coached both the 2008 and 2012 U.S. men's national teams to back-to-back gold medals in the Olympics. During his tenure as the head coach of Team USA, Coach K amassed an astounding 62-1 and returned U.S. men's basketball to dominance on the world stage.

During his tenure at Duke, Coach K has led his team to 4 NCAA Championships, 11 Final Fours, 13 ACC championships and an NCAA-record 12 30-win seasons. Coach K has amassed an NCAA-record 79 tournament victories while averaging more than 25 wins per season. On November 15, 2011, Krzyzewski led Duke to a 74-69 victory over Michigan State at Madison Square Garden to become the winningest coach in NCAA Division I men's basketball history. Krzyzewski's 903rd victory surpassed the previous record of 902, held by his former coach, Bob Knight. He has also coached players such as Kyrie Irving, and Shane Battier.

Prior to coaching at Duke, Coach K spent five years building the men's basketball program at his alma mater, West Point. On November 17, 2000, he earned his 500th win at Duke with a triumph over Villanova. That night, the fabled floor of Duke's Cameron Indoor Stadium was dedicated as Coach K Court. These accomplishments have not gone unnoticed. In all, Coach Krzyzewski has been named National Coach of the Year 12 times in 8 different seasons. He was named Coach of the Decade for the 1990s by the NABC and was the second recipient of the John R. Wooden Legends of Coaching Award. In 2001, Coach K was one of three members inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame, with the presentation made by his college coach Bob Knight.

Krzyzewski received another prestigious honor in 2001, being named "America's Best Coach"—all coaches, any sport, any level of play—by TIME magazine and CNN. "No college hoops coach has won more in the past two decades," wrote Josh Tyrangiel of TIME "and Krzyzewski has accomplished all this with a program that turns out real-deal scholar athletes—kids who go to class, graduate and don't mind telling everyone about it."

In 2011, Sports Illustrated named Krzyzewski its Sportsman of the Year. In 2009, Sporting News also named Krzyzewski one of the 50 greatest coaches in any sport of all time.

Krzyzewski also has an impressive resume as a best-selling author including Leading with the Heart which reached The New York Times best seller list in 2000. His two most recent books Beyond Basketball: Coach K's Keywords for Success, released in 2006, and THE GOLD STANDARD: Building a World-Class Team, released in 2009 was co-authored by his youngest daughter, Jamie Spatola.

1. The Shot

As time expires, Grant Hill's full court pass and Christian Laettner's turn around jumper from above the foul line give Duke a thrilling 104-103 overtime victory, sending the Blue Devils to the Final Four.

2. Coach K Passes Bob Knight

Mike Krzyzewski became the winningest coach in the history of men's major college basketball at 9:36 p.m. on Tuesday, when his Duke Blue Devils defeated Michigan State, 74-69, at Madison Square Garden.

3. The Miracle Minute

Down 10 with a minute remaining, the Blue Devils make a run fueled by a myriad of Maryland mistakes to win the game.

Jim Boeheim in Win Over Arkansas.

"The top teams are always going to have a rivalry. Connecticut is more of a big rivalry for us now because they've been so good. Now Georgetown's coming back, they'll be good again and that'll be a big rivalry game. It's the good teams that are rivals." -Jim Boeheim

SYRACUSE- When it was over at the Carrier Dome, after seventh-ranked Syracuse University routed Rutgers 78-53 to secure another win for Jim Boeheim, the coach didn't want to talk about victory No. 903, the one that moved him ahead of Bob Knight into second on the NCAA's all-time list.

"To me the numbers are not the story," the coach said, admitting that in recent days he has thought a bit about his Hall-of-Fame career. "The story is the players I've been able to coach, the coaches I've worked with, the coaches we've competed against all these years - so many great coaches, so many great games.

"It's those games and those battles that I think about. Unfortunately, I think about the losses too much, but someday maybe I'll get over that when I get really old, which isn't that far away."

Syracuse 78, Rutgers 53

Boeheim smiled. He is 68. This is his 37th season and most of the battles happened in the Big East Conference, which is in the midst of an upheaval that some say Syracuse, one of its founding members in 1979, started late in 2011 by announcing it was leaving for the Atlantic Coast Conference. So Wednesday was the Orange's 34th and last Big East opener.

Senior guard Brandon Triche led SU (13-1), which plays at noon Sunday at South Florida (8-3), with 25 points, two off his career high. He made 8 of 11 shots overall, including 5 of 6 from 3-point range. C.J. Fair had 15 points and sophomore point guard Michael Carter-Williams added 12 points and 10 assists.

The Orange used a 21-0 surge over the final seven minutes of the first half to take a 39-20 lead against a Rutgers team that had won five straight. The Scarlet Knights (9-3) were welcoming back Mike Rice from a three-game university suspension for reportedly being too harsh in practices to players.

"When it was 20-18," Boeheim said, referring to Rutgers' only lead. "I really thought this would be a hard (game). We were playing really well and we were down two." But Syracuse's zone helped force Rutgers into 11 straight misses to end the half and the second was more of the same.

Now only Duke's head coach Mike Krzyzewski (940) ranks ahead of Boeheim in wins, and Boeheim has done it all at Syracuse, where he played from 192-66. His 356 wins are the most in Big East history and his 34 seasons with 20 or more wins are the most. "It's a privilege to coach here," Boeheim said in a brief post-game ceremony on the court, where 17,413 fans saw SU extend the nation's longest home winning streak to 33 games. "I've had great, great players and they played pretty well tonight."

Teenagers want to play for Boeheim, Carter-Williams said. "He gives you so much freedom," he said. "He lets you play your game and not a lot of coaches do that."

That, along with the Big East and big crowds at the Dome, helped Boeheim attract so much talent to snowy Syracuse.

Top 3 Wins- Jim Boeheim

1. 2004 National Championship

Hakim Warrick blocked a potential tying 3-pointer with less than a second left and Syracuse captured the first national title in school history by holding on for an 81-78 victory over Kansas.

2. Jim Boeheim's 900th Win

Jim Boeheim became the third Division 1 men's coach to reach 900 wins as No. 3 Syracuse beat Detroit, 72-68, Monday night in the Gotham Classic in Syracuse, N.Y.

3. 60T Win Over UConn

Regulation wasn't enough for these two rivals as they played into overtime and well past midnight in a classic battle. It took six overtimes before Syracuse finally out-last-ed UConn for a 127-117 victory.
