W o r l d o f A r t

All my life I had been interested in art. Drawing, painting, coloring, etc., lets me express who I am and how I feel. There is even a saying that goes like this, "a picture represents more than a thousand words." From art I am free to draw what I want and let people see my creative master piece.

My favorite type of art is sketching and making mini-mosaics made out of cut-up-pieces of magazine papers.

Moreover, I enjoy observing other people's master piece, for example, "Starry Night" by Vincent Van Gogh. I loved the spirals and swirls he made to form winds and the sky; they are very mystical. In addition, I liked his ability to mix colors. The colors he used were dark and gloomy. I tried making a replica of this piece with crayon last year. However, my works will never be comparable to

Although I might not have the talents to become a famous artist in the future, I will always love art as one of my hobbies and continue to express myself through sketching, instead of expressing how I feel directly.

F a v o r i t e F o o d ! ! !

There are many types of food I like to eat. However, everyone has their favorite dish they would prefer over everything else. I personally like Chinese dish over Japanese, American, Spanish, etc. It is probably because I been eating Chinese food my whole life.

One Chinese dish I particular love eating for breakfast is congee. Congee, also called jook, is a traditional Chinese dish eaten for breakfast; it is made of rice boiled in water with other ingredients added into it. My favorite type of congee is with pig blood and fish put cooked in it. It tastes the best when served hot but not cold.

In addition, congee is great when served with a fried bread, in which I do not know what it is called.

There are other Chinese food I like, other than jook, such as fried rice, roasted duck, roasted
